

ADVISORY NOTE

REDUNDANCY PAYMENTS (CONTINUITY OF EMPLOYMENT IN LOCAL GOVERNMENT, etc) (MODIFICATION) ORDER 1999

For the purposes of calculating an employee's entitlements to benefits such as annual leave, periods of notice, occupational sickness/maternity allowance or redundancy payments, continuous service with other Local Authority employers should be considered (see Section 1, Date of Continuous Service). For these purposes, a Local Authority is one of the employers listed in the Redundancy Payments (Continuity of Employment in Local Government, etc) (Modification) Order 1999.

The above detailed order came into force on 1 September 1999 and revokes the Redundancy Payments (Local Government) (Modification) Order 1983, and the subsequent orders that amended it, and consolidates their provisions, with further amendments, into a single order.

The Order modifies certain provisions of the Employment Rights Act 1996 concerning redundancy payments, in their application to local government and associated employers. The modifications have the effect that employment with local government employers and certain related bodies may be treated as if it were continuous and aggregated for the purposes of calculating redundancy payments.

In addition to consolidating the provisions of the revoked orders with drafting amendments, the Order incorporates additions to and removals from the lists of employers concerned, arising from changes in the way local government services in related sectors are provided and in the identities of the employers involved.

Where an employee returns to local government service following a break for maternity reasons, they will be entitled to have previous service taken into account in respect of sickness and maternity schemes provided that the break in service does not exceed 8 years and that no paid employment has intervened. For the purpose of the calculation of entitlement to annual leave, the 8 years' time limit does not apply provided that no paid employment has intervened.

To assist you in this task, attached is a comprehensive list of employers covered by the various modification orders.
